HEAD START UPDATE

Prepared for: CSI Board of Trustees

By: Donna Suhr, Head Start Director

Date: April 30, 2001

For all Head Start programs, federal review team visits are scheduled every three years. Seven team members and our federal project officer, Donna Kahle were here the week of April 10-12. For the first time, a federal review team visit was expected by June 1. A special thank you to Dr. Lehrman for his thoughtful questions and observations during the board member interview. Mike Mason was also a big hit with team members. They wondered if he could be cloned for use by other community colleges that serve as Head Start grantees!

Our program was identified as one of two Idaho state award winners in the annual, national "Make A Difference Day" competition. Last October, a group of parents joined forces with 66 community groups to reach out to the homeless in our area. HS families coordinated a collection that netted 2130 cans of food and 300 pairs of gloves and hats to the Boys and Girls Club with 74 volunteering. Parents have arranged for the $2000

Accountability for specified learning outcome measures have recently been included in federal HS legislation. One requirement that has had early childhood educators "scratching their heads" is a mandate that each HS child "know" 10 letters of the alphabet. What does "know" mean? What if a few do not achieve this? Does it mean 3 year olds as well as 4 year olds? Children who speak another language or who have developmental delays? National Office of Head Start year. This was not easy, because standardized tests developed for preschoolers did not include identifying letters of the alphabet! We came up with our own tool and will be analyzing information all summer, but, so far we do know that enrollees identified an average of 3 letters at the beginning of the year, and 8 letters in February. The end of the year assessment will be in May.

We are applying for competitive funding of $588,000 per year to serve 60 infants and children in Blaine County, 10 in Cassia, 10 in Jerome, 10 in Blaine and 20 in TF. This proposal is due on May 7. Positive letters of support have been provided by local service providers and elected officials, including Senators Craig and Crapo. Our next funding proposal is a non-competitive grant to increase enrollment for preschoolers in Twin Falls

Hi Jerry,

Thanks for listening on the van issue. Here are my thoughts/requests.

1. Biology laboratories that are field-related, particularly the general education class Environmental Science, need to be able to transport students locally via vans or a 25 passenger bus. Our laboratories now accommodate 24 students. The most curriculum, or reducing the number of students in the lab sections, and thereby increasing the number of sections. I would like to see a limit of 13 (including the driver) for local trips (20-30 mile radius). Classes affected in our department include Environmental Science; General Zoology; Science, Literature, and Environment; Field Biology.

A second alternative would be no restriction of number (up to 15) of passengers for local trips, but have certain vans (with a 45 MPH governor) designated for local trips.

2. Safety issue of not having luggage inside the vehicle. I would suggest a cargo net instead of a trailer. Most individuals driving vans on extended trips are not experienced at pulling a trailer. I think this poses a greater safety risk to the passengers and driver than a cargo net. Luggage on top of the van raises the center of gravity. (I am presently concerned about this issue because of the trailer being pulled by Fran Golding and Nancy Byler on the Field Biology class thru the Southwestern U.S.)

3. What were the conditions of this governmental study. Are there other things that we can do, other than decreasing significantly the number of passengers, that will insure better safety for our students? Total weight and distribution? Speed?

What are other institutions doing that rely on van transportation?
